7th Sunday in Ordinary Time - A - 23 February 2014

Forgive

A young man in the village had been badly insulted, and he hurried to his pastor to tell him about it, adding that he was going immediately to his offender and avenge his honour. "Better go home, son," said the pastor, kindly. "But I've been insulted!" protested the young man. "That's exactly why you should go home at this time. An insult is like mud." "I know that...and I'm going to clean it up." "Son, there is one thing you might as well learn now than later. Mud brushes off a lot more easily when it is dry."

In the Gospel today, Jesus said to his disciples: "You have learnt how it was said: Eye for eye and tooth for tooth. But I say this to you: offer the wicked man no resistance. On the contrary, if anyone hits you on the right cheek, offer him the other as well." The question of forgiveness is a most crucial one for all of us. That is why it is the most central, novel and challenging aspect of Christ's teaching. He talks about the need to forgive not just seven times but seventy times seven times. He teaches us to pray, "Forgive us our sins, as we forgive those who sin against us." He gives us the example of forgiveness from the Cross: "Father, forgive them for they do not know what they do." This is also the issue in the stories of healing of the blind and the paralysed. Our blindness and paralysis come from the bitterness and lack of forgiveness that is with in us.

Carl Jung, the Psychologist, said that many people are suffering enormously now because they failed to suffer little things in the past. A person is hurt: he or she does not accept and deal with the hurt. It lies in the heart. Because of this the joys of the next day cannot be received and enjoyed. So the pile up continues. The doors of the heart are clogged. Only bitterness is experienced. "For if you love those who love you, what right have you to claim any credit? Even the tax collectors do as much, do they not?"

Let us pray that with the grace of God we can entrust all of our burden, grudges, hurt and anger in his hand and we will try to be more forgiving and understanding so that we can live our life in peace and love with others.

Catechism of the Catholic Church

2262 In the Sermon on the Mount, the Lord recalls the commandment, "You shall not kill," and adds to it the proscription of anger, hatred, and vengeance. Going further, Christ asks his disciples to turn the other cheek, to love their enemies. He did not defend himself and told Peter to leave his sword in its sheath.

The Francis Effect

The Apostolic Exhortation, Evangelii Gaudium has been described as Pope Francis' vision for the Church. This Colloquium will explore this vision and application for the Australian Catholic Church and society. This one-day Colloquium will challenge participants to answer Pope Francis' call to be "missionary disciples" (EG 120). The day will bring together people from across ministries of the Church for a time of formation and professional development. An occasion not to be missed for anyone who is living and leading mission and evangelisation. We invite you to come in groups or as an individual. A copy of the newly released book The Francis Effect: Living the Joy of the Gospel will be given to each participant. Thursday April 3, 2014 from 8.30am – 4.30pm at Dooleys Lidcombe Catholic Club, 24-28 John Street, Lidcombe. For registration & more info contact Roza Vukovich on 9919 7800; formation@catholicmission.org.au
